On behalf of the Ontario Council of the Canadian Federation of University Women, I would like to express our sincerest thanks for the tireless work that you, your team and all of your affected workers are doing.

I hope that you will hear this over and over again that we can never thank you enough for your direction, your help, your honesty as Ontario, Canada and the world attempt to deal with this new coronavirus.

Especially in this week of World Health Day, as a women's organization, we are very cognizant of the involvement of hundreds of women - nurses and other health care workers, personal support workers and caregivers, administrators, public health officials, emergency services and paramedics, grocery clerks - to deal with this massive situation. We are so thankful for their efforts, and for many putting their own lives in danger. When this is over, how can we possibly thank them.

For now, we thank you, and appreciate all of your efforts.

Sincerely,

Sandra Thomson
